

The Oliver Group

For Immediate Release

The Oliver Group announces senior management promotions and launch of Archaeo, the company's new professional services division

With successful revenue, client, and project growth in 2008, the company continues the momentum with additions to further enhance the value it provides to the market.

PAWCATUCK, CT & LONDON, UK - January 30, 2009 - The Oliver Group, an internationally recognized leader in data acquisition, media restoration, and early stage electronic discovery services today announced the appointment of Bill Walsh as Chief Operating Officer. The company also announced that John Rubens will be leading the company's newly formed professional services division as Managing Director.

Walsh joined the company in 2007 as Vice President, Sales and has been instrumental in the company's success in growing revenue, client relationships and expanding the company services portfolio. "Bill's appointment supports our growth strategy and positions us for continued client driven success in the future" said Brian Oliver, founder and owner of The Oliver Group. He added, "Bill's zeal for client driven initiatives and proven experience in growing organizations in this market make him the perfect fit to lead our team."

The company also announced the formation and launch of Archaeo, the professional services division of The Oliver Group. Rubens has been with the company since 2005 will move to the position of Managing Director, Professional Services where he will build upon the company's success in Data Acquisitions & Forensics by leading Archaeo. "John is the ideal candidate for this leadership position, his strong industry knowledge and proven consulting experience are exactly what we need to grow this critically important business unit" said Oliver.

Archaeo will build upon the data acquisition and forensics expertise of The Oliver Group and the other adjacent professional services the company delivers that complement their core competence in media restoration and early stage e-discovery. Archaeo provides focused expertise in helping clients develop cost-effective strategies for managing their litigation, compliance and legacy infrastructure risks.

About The Oliver Group

The Oliver Group is an independently owned, internationally recognized leader in litigation and compliance support, providing expert services in data acquisition, forensics, media restoration and early stage electronic discovery services. The Oliver Group's ability to extract and process data using both native and non-native methods lends itself to small complex matters, as well as high volume restoration and conversion projects. With a focus on data integrity and security, The Oliver Group maintains flexibility across platforms and output formats, and has managed projects for some of the most significant litigation and compliance matters around the world. For more information, visit www.the-olivergroup.com.

Media Contact:

David P. Labbe

CMPS Marketing, 860 572 0851

david@cmpsmarketing.com

Oliver Group Contact:

Dean Felicetti, Partner

860 599 9760

dfelicetti@the-olivergroup.com